

FORT SILL APACHE TRIBE GALLERY GUIDE

Allan Houser (Fort Sill [Chiricahual Apache]). Earth Mother. 1980.
Courtesy of Glenn Green Galleries,
Santa Fe, Mexico.

LEARN MORE

Fort Sill Apache Cultural Program

Apache, Oklahoma
(580) 588-2298
fortsillapache-nsn.gov

FAM EXHIBITIONS

- OKLA HOMMA in the Tribal Nations Gallery (Lower Level)
- WINIKO: Life of an Object, Selections from the Smithsonian's National Museum of the American Indian in the Mezzanine Gallery

TRIBAL CONSULTATIONS

The all-Native FAM curatorial team carefully developed content and selected objects in both exhibitions after conducting consultations with tribal leaders and consultants from all 39 tribal nations. FAM looks forward to furthering a reciprocal relationship with all 39 Tribal Nations.

EXHIBITION SELECTIONS

FAM curatorial staff collaborated with Ft. Sill Apache tribal leaders to select these representative objects and interpretive materials.

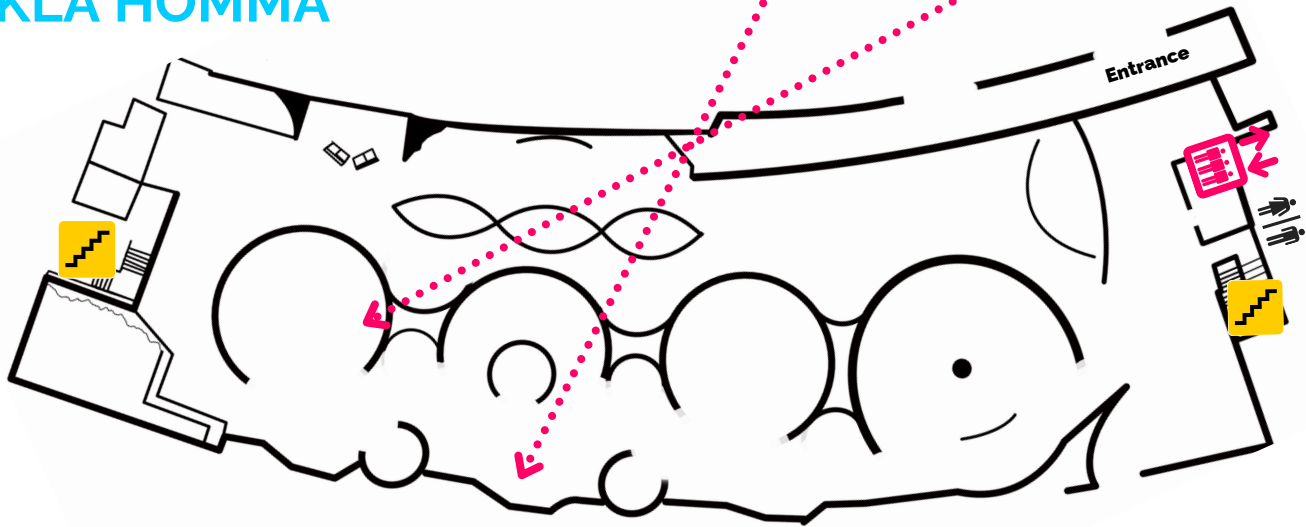

Panel: Apache women and children

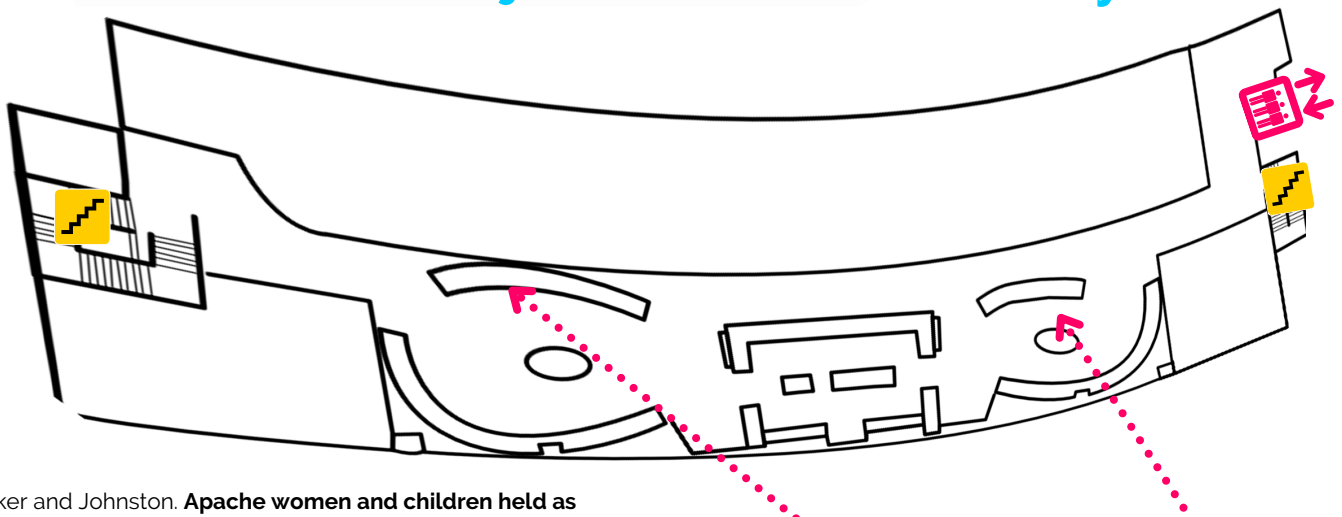

Panel: Ft. Still Apache Mountain Spirit dancers

OKLA HOMMA

WINIKO: Life of an Object (Mezzanine Gallery)

- Baker and Johnston. Apache women and children held as prisoners of war. 1882. Courtesy of National Anthropological Archives, Smithsonian Institution.
- Chester B. Cowen (Choctaw/Chickasaw). Ft. Sill Apache Mountain Spirit dancers and singers perform at the opening parade of the American Indian Exposition. c. 1996. Courtesy of Oklahoma Historical Society, Chester R. Cowen Collection.
- Wilson Ware. Water Drum ('isaadihndii). 2020. Commissioned from the Artist.
- Child-carrying jacket (e'tchine bi e'de). c 1909. Courtesy of National Museum of the American Indian, Smithsonian Institution.

Object: Water Drum

Object: Child-carrying jacket