

K'yakhome bah
ah Hei-dae!

KIOWA TRIBE GALLERY GUIDE

Woman's Buckskin Dress
(qócauizòhòldà). c. 1909. Courtesy of National Museum of the American Indian, Smithsonian Institution.

LEARN MORE

Kiowa Tribal Museum
Carnegie, Oklahoma
580-654-6366
kiowatribe.org/museum

FAM EXHIBITIONS

- OKLA HOMMA in the Tribal Nations Gallery (Lower Level)
- WINIKO: Life of an Object, Selections from the Smithsonian's National Museum of the American Indian in the Mezzanine Gallery

TRIBAL CONSULTATIONS

The all-Native FAM curatorial team carefully developed content and selected objects in both exhibitions after conducting consultations with tribal leaders and consultants from all 39 tribal nations. FAM looks forward to furthering a reciprocal relationship with all 39 Tribal Nations.

EXHIBITION SELECTIONS

FAM curatorial staff collaborated with Kiowa tribal leaders to select these representative objects and interpretive materials.

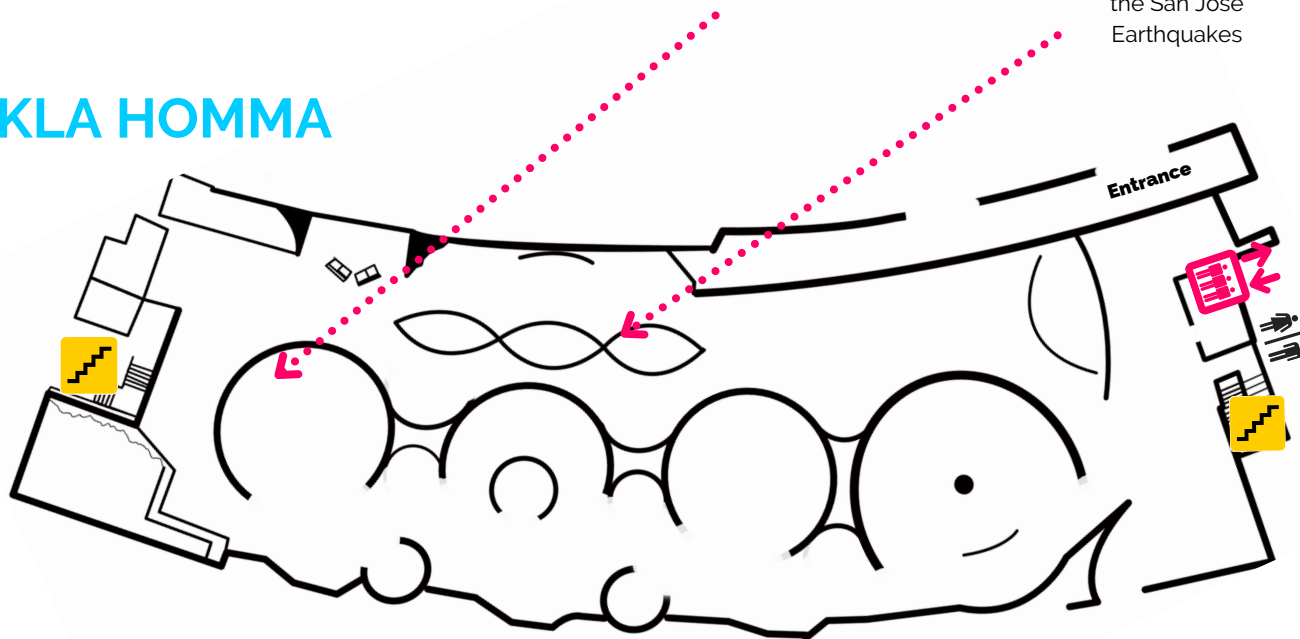

Panel: I-See-O

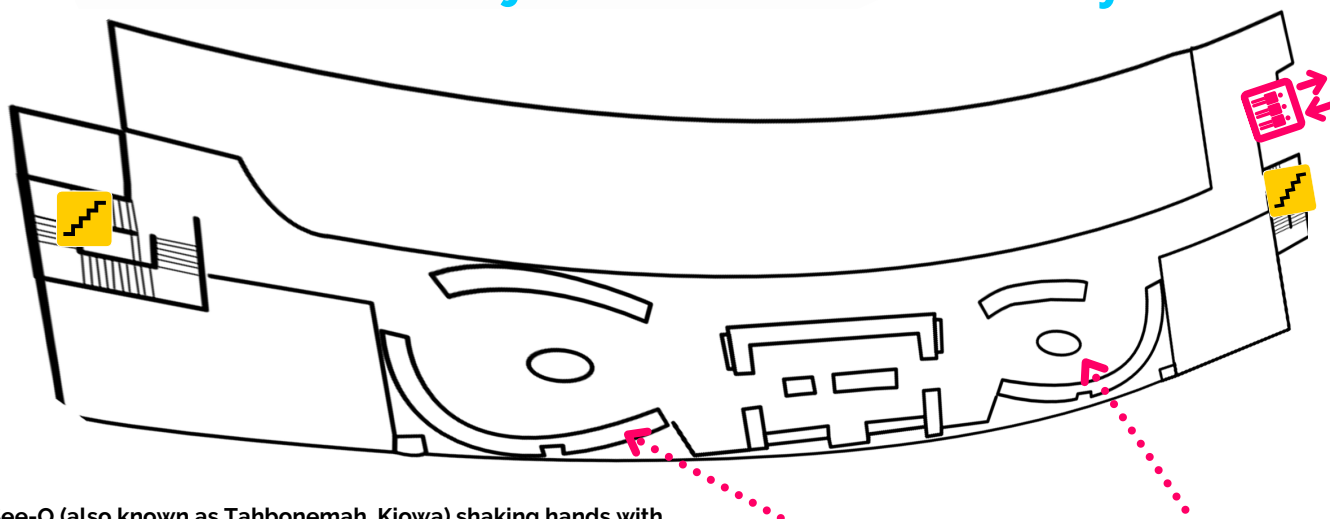

Panel: Chris Wondolowski (Kiowa) of the San Jose Earthquakes

OKLA HOMMA

WINIKO: Life of an Object (Mezzanine Gallery)

- I-See-O (also known as Tahbonemah, Kiowa) shaking hands with President Calvin Coolidge. 1925. Courtesy of Center of Military History, Fort Sill National Historic Landmark and Museum
- Chris Wondolowski (Kiowa) of the San Jose Earthquakes. 2020. Courtesy of Photographer Lyndsay Radnedge/ISI Photos/Getty Images Sport.
- Silver Horn (Kiowa). Hide Calendar (sá:cút). c. 1909. Courtesy of National Museum of the American Indian, Smithsonian Institution.
- Man's Moccasins (jò:hi), c. 1915-1941. Courtesy of National Museum of the American Indian, Smithsonian Institution.

Object: Hide Calendar (Detail)

Object: Man's Moccasins (detail)