

TONKAWA TRIBE OF OKLAHOMA GALLERY GUIDE

Girl's Leggings (ya kok xon ha-way). c. 1914. Courtesy of National Museum of the American Indian, Smithsonian Institution.

LEARN MORE

Tonkawa Tribal Museum

(580) 628-2561

tonkawatribe.com/museum

FAM EXHIBITIONS

- OKLA HOMMA in the Tribal Nations Gallery (Lower Level)
- WINIKO: Life of an Object, Selections from the Smithsonian's National Museum of the American Indian in the Mezzanine Gallery

TRIBAL CONSULTATIONS

The all-Native FAM curatorial team carefully developed content and selected objects in both exhibitions after conducting consultations with tribal leaders and consultants from all 39 tribal nations. FAM looks forward to furthering a reciprocal relationship with all 39 Tribal Nations.

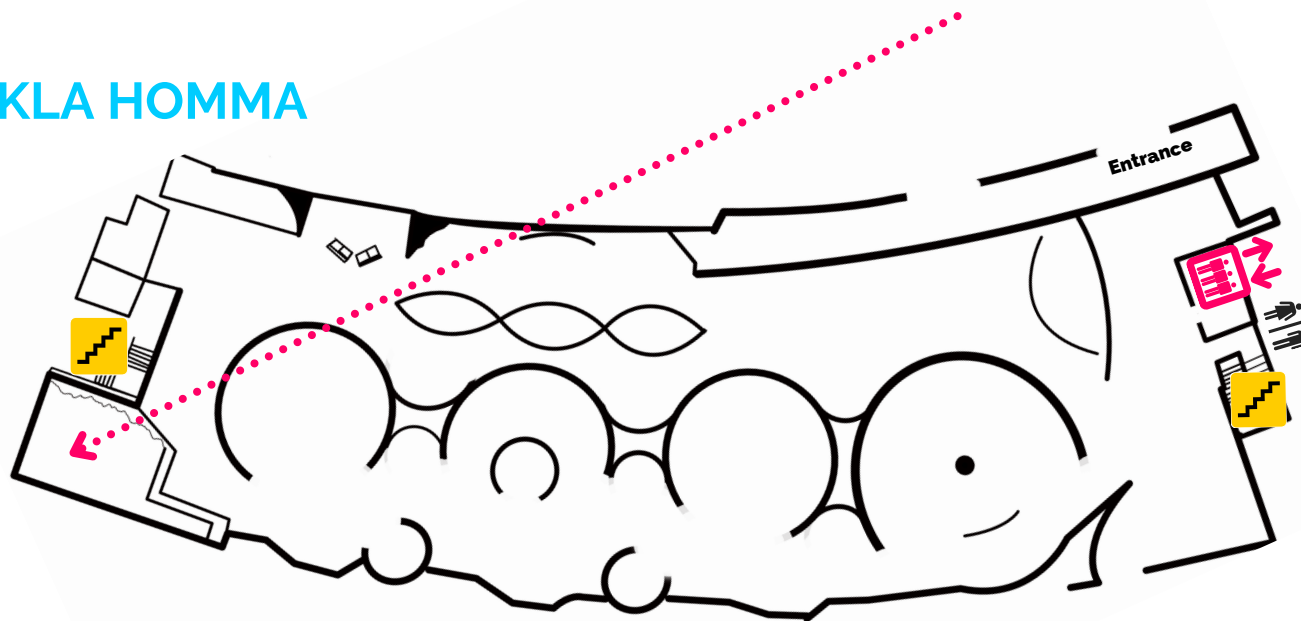

EXHIBITION SELECTIONS

FAM curatorial staff collaborated with Tonkawa tribal leaders to select these representative objects and interpretive materials.

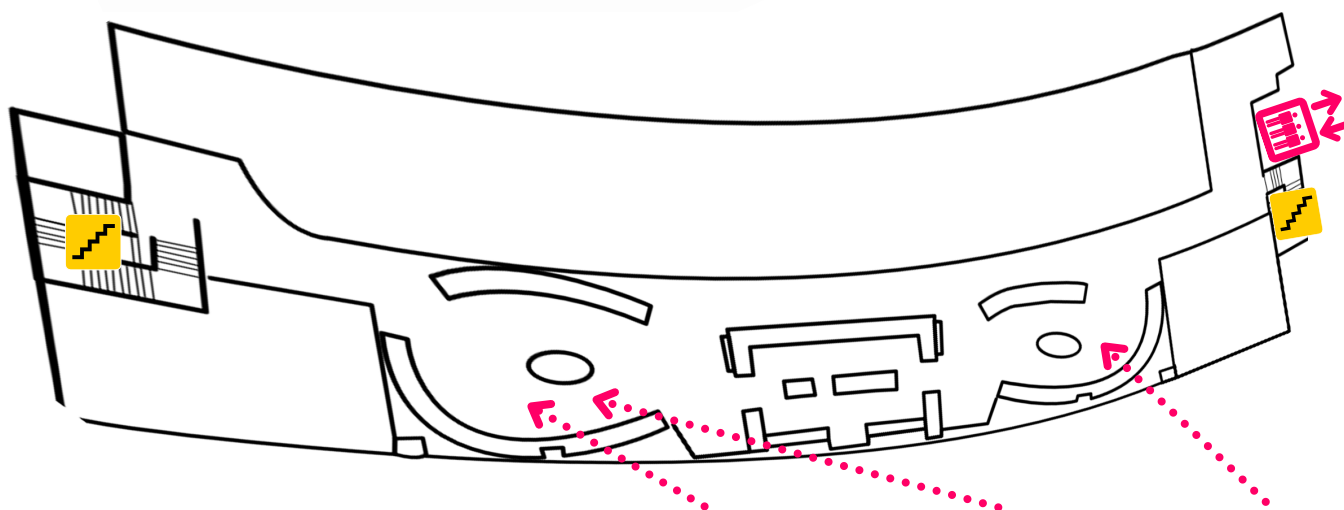

Panel: Tonkawa Tribal Powwow

OKLA HOMMA

WINIKO: Life of an Object (Mezzanine Gallery)

- Tonkawa Tribal Powwow, Tonkawa, Oklahoma. 2008. Courtesy of Shane Brown (Cherokee), photographer.
- Girl's Leggings (ya kok xon ha-way). c. 1914. Courtesy of National Museum of the American Indian, Smithsonian Institution.
- Fur Hat (hokopakxon ok). c. 1880. Courtesy of National Museum of the American Indian, Smithsonian Institution.
- Boy's Leggings (ya kok xon). c. prior to 1968. Courtesy of the National Museum of the American Indian, Smithsonian Institution.

Object: Girl's Leggings (detail)

Object: Fur Hat (detail)

Object: Boy's Leggings (detail)